Presidents Welcome

On behalf of the members of the Glenelg Regional Merino Field Day group I welcome you to our first online sale conducted through Auctionsplus.

Like much of 2020, nothing about this year's Field Day and Auction is the same as previous years. There will be no Auction or Field Day rams on display at the Balmoral Recreation reserve on the 10 of August 2020.

COVID19 has changed how we will conduct our ram sale this year. For the first time the catalogue of 102 rams from the Glenelg group will only be available online through Auctionsplus.

We encourage buyers to continue supporting our local studs that have become well known for the excellent quality and consistency of rams, suited to the local environment and purchase at this year's auction.

We encourage supporters of the Glenelg group of studs to contact the studs directly and arrange a time to inspect the rams that are on offer and make selections about bidding preferences. We also recommend working with the sale agents Nutrien and Elders to assist with bidding on the day and understanding the process of using Auctionsplus well in advance of the sale date.

2020 is a year that is providing many challenges, but the profitability of merinos is still strong, even though prices for wool have declined since this time last year. The fundamentals are still in place for strong demand in the future. Particularly for sheep meat and surplus ewes. Our national ewe flock is still declining and the need for breeding ewes has never been stronger, the merino ewe is still the powerhouse of sheep enterprises. Wool production volume is still low and as the world economy lifts so will the price for wool. The future for merino sheep production businesses is still strong.

This year the Glenelg group is offering an outstanding team of auction rams with more high quality rams on offer than last year, this is a result of our group members dedication and skill in producing the type of rams that merino breeders are looking for in our local area and around Australia.

We would like to thank the selling agents, Nutrien and Elders for all their help and support in making the Glenelg Field Day and Ram Sale a success every year.

We hope all who purchase online this year find the rams they need to drive their business forward.
