Foreword

By Marlene Andrew - Boer Goat Inspector

Three and a half years ago I was asked to travel to Roma and perform a herd inspection for Hendon Park Boers at Bymount. I had a conversation with Movvy about what his expectations were and what he wanted to gain from this process in a commercial setting. It was inspiring to listen to his dreams and plans for his operation. I spent Easter 2018 working through all the stock at Hendon Park.

Movvy then had his herd sorted as to what to keep and proceed with, and which stock to move on or send to slaughter. With the herd that was staying he had them identified to their sires, so he could easily track their production, kidding success and growth rates.

Hendon Park Boers then sourced Fullblood bucks from several studs with the aim of increasing growth rate, structural correctness and fit for purpose stock.

It has been exciting observing the progress that Hendon Park Boers has gained over the last 3.5 yrs. They initially had customers with reservations about the fullblood Boer infusion in his stock and if they would survive in the Western areas.

Hendon Park Boers proved that yes, they survive and more than that the bucks improved kidding weights, survival rate, and growth rate, with those producers then turning those kids off faster to send to market earlier with increased carcass weights and receiving better returns. Hendon Park Boers now has those same producers returning to purchase stock in increasing numbers each year.

Hendon Park Boers will continue to move forward as a dream and a breeding plan that continues to produce fit for purpose sires for the commercial industry.

Our Story - Hendon Park Boers (Movvy & Nell Stanford)

After more than 15 years of running Boer & Boer Cross Goats on our property at Bymount in Qld, to initially help with some financial sustainability during extended periods of drought when we were forced to destock our cattle and sheep, things were going pretty good in the goat trade and we sold the majority of our goats previously to meatworks, and then there were some that went for export to Malaysia and other areas in Asia. However, we made a decision to get 'serious' in 2018.

We wanted our new focus to be on progressing to a "purebred" & "full-blood" line and ultimately registering a stud, as well as having an improved commercial line. We purchased a couple of Full-Blood Boer Bucks in preparation, then the next step was joining a Boer Goat Association, and getting our herd assessed and classified.

Along came Marz Andrew, Assessor & Boer Goat Breeder who came up to Qld and looked over our herd. After talking with Marz and seeing her in action assessing and pointing out various markings and defects with some of the herd, it was soon evident to us that she had done a fair bit of assessing and judging of Boer Goats in her time, and how quickly we realised that we potentially didn't know all that we thought we did when it came to 'serious' Boer Goat breeding!

When you decide to diversify and improve the class of your herd, the benefit of having someone with a good reputation, great knowledge and experience in the Boer Goat field, to show you what more you can do and the improved quality you can gain in your herd, by culling out goats with certain traits, age, markings and defects, and giving you lots of other beneficial information, is beyond words!

Assessing a herd of 1000 Boer goats individually over approximately 2 ½ days is no easy task and tagging 250 of them to their classification was a huge feat, but for us the work had basically just begun! As besides the sending in of all the certificates, there was more fencing to be done to separate a few paddocks, plus the purchase of a few more Full-blood Boer Bucks, and importantly having a good Goat Dog and helpers, plus the setup of all the right systems going forward, to be able to record and manage and market our new stud – Hendon Park Boers.

We have come a long way over the years since Movvy and his mate Cam "went down south and did some goats", and Movvy made headlines as "Bymount's Accidental Goat Farmer". It is fair to say, that where we are today is no accident and there has been a lot of hard work done, and the sourcing of several quality Boer Bucks was not easy in the beginning. Genetic improvement is not a quick-fix and is a process improved over time, and we know this firsthand with years of modifications to our herd, to support quality production, high growth rates and sustainable, Fit-For-Purpose Boer Goats. We are excited to have had the following Boer Goat Stud genetics in our herd - Terramac; Carrington View; Birchmere; Emjay; and Armadown. In 2021 we have added Full-Blood Boer Bucks from Kazleesha & Cleveland Studs.

It is our goal, that our story will inspire you to find something here at our sale that you like, and that will assist you with what you aim to achieve from Boer Goat breeding. We are here to offer whatever support, guidance, and wealth of knowledge we can to others wanting to start, or move forward and expand, diversify, and build up quality Boer Goat Businesses, for not only our years, but for the future of our next generations!

ENJOY THE SALE!
