Leachman Elite South Devon

The South Devon breed has emerged as the dominant British breed alternative to Angus. With extensive experience breeding Devon cattle that dates back to our own purebred herd started in the 80s in Montana, we are confident that the South Devon breed more than competitive on $Profit. Much of this is based on their unique combination of heavy muscling with marbling levels comparative to Angus. In addition, substantial evidence now suggests that the breed excels on feed efficiency. Based on our relentless pursuit of having profitability cattle, we will incorporate the best South Devon bulls available into our stabilizer composite program. These bulls are to cross on Angus, Sim-Angus and Gelbvieh - Angus females.

Sydney Royal 2014 Beef Challenge

Venue - Wilga Feedlot, Bellata NSW

Many prestigious cattle were amongst the 51 teams of six which equal 306 head in the Domestic Section of the Sydney Royal 2014 Beef Challenge. This trial of about 90 days was held over a very hot and dry summer but the teams of South Devon heifers which showed the best marbling of any.

Number 168 was the only beast out of 300 with two marble score and was awarded a Bronze Ribbon for Taste Test.

Only 10 scored perfect points for carcass - Kildare entries had two of these gaining the 60 points.

One black heifer first place and only entry with an MSA Grade One. Profitability was amongst the best too!

The exceptionally hot summer affected daily weight gains overall.

Champion Carcase School Section, Brisbane Exhibition 2013.

Bred by Ian and Sandra Ferris and exhibited by Tenterfield High School
 Despite his colour, the steer is 80% South Devon blood by Kildare bull (Black).

Cadman performs in NZ too!

Fraser and Sandra McKenzie of Wainuka South Devons, New Zealand, are very happy with their Cadman AI calves, born September '13.

The McKenzies believe all three calves are capable of leaving stud sires.

Below, heifer and bull calf by Cadman.

Lotfeeders!

The facts are:

For five consecutive years at the Vasse Feed Efficiency Trials, South Devon bulls have proven to be more than 10% more efficient than the average of all other breeds.

In other words - with South Devons, you can feed another 10 animals with NO extra feed costs per 100 animals.

On average South Devons have outperformed the other breeds on feed conversion over the past 5 years

...maybe it's time you had another look?

BC Progress top feed efficient sire of any breed ever!

At Marc Clay Centre, Nebraska USA and Midland Bull Test Centre, Montana USA data on performance collected. Progress line being used extensively at Kildare South Devons, Upper Horton, NSW
