Welcome

The Curtis family extend a warm welcome to all participating in our 10th on property Dorper and White Dorper ram sale. All rams offered in this sale were born in 2014 with the youngest of the rams being not quite 12 months of age. It gives us pleasure to present this quality draft of stud and commercial rams at the 10th Bellevue on property sale.

Visual selection is the first tool we use when assessing animals to remain in our stud. Lambplan data and breeding history is then used to help select the best breeding animals for our seed stock production. Lambplan data enables us to know what animals will deliver and takes the guess work out of selection. All of our stud animals are weighed at birth, weaning and post weaning and are muscle scanned to gather the raw data for Lambplan. Ewes are selected for fertility and mothering. We expect a lambing percentage in the 150% range from a six week joining with the non performers being removed from the stud.

Prime lamb production is an important part of the enterprise mix at Bellevue. We understand what the prime lamb market requires and sell our prime Dorper lambs from 43+kg live weight. We start selling our lambs at this weight range from five months of age.

One of the important advantages of our prime lamb enterprise is that it gives us the opportunity as stud breeders to 'ground truth' our stud rams; we get to see how our rams are breeding and performing. And we can confidently say that the Bellevue rams, Dorper and White Dorper, are performing and breeding as they ought to!

Prime lambs need to 'hit the ground running'. They need to be born with ease, mothered well and grow quickly to reach a saleable age as early as possible.

We select rams for growth, muscle and good fat coverage. Fat coverage not only means good eating quality of the meat, but excellent maternal traits in the ewes retained. A ewe with good fat coverage will get in lamb sooner, have a greater chance of multiple births and will feed her lamb and 'hang in' longer when the weather is tough. She will then get back in lamb again, sooner, because her body condition is good, and do it all over again. This adds up to more dollars in our commercial prime lamb producers pockets.

In our last sale catalogue we spoke about our prime commercial lambs and ewes with their tails 'left long'. We continue to not dock tails in our prime lamb and ewe flocks, and although initially we encountered a little bit of resistance at the saleyards, we are now receiving very positive feedback to say that the fat coverage on the lamb carcasses with undocked tails is 'perfect' and producing a beautiful cut of lamb.

With prime lamb prices remaining strong, and with both domestic and multiple export markets wanting Australian lamb, the future looks very bright for the prime lamb industry. It is a very exciting time to be producing lamb and to be producing Dorper lamb, acknowledged for its eating quality, high yielding and early finishing carcasses.

If you are attending the sale please join us for morning tea and a Dorper lamb bbq lunch prior to commencement of the auction, and please feel welcome to stay and enjoy refreshments and a catch up with fellow Dorper 'enthusiasts' following the sale.

To all breeders, stud and commercial, we wish you every success with your endeavours. To everyone participating in this sale we thank you for your interest and support.

Dorper regards

David & Robbie Curtis and Sophie Madge

LAMBPLAN

LAMBPLAN is a valuable tool for both ram breeders and commercial lamb and sheep producers.

Ram breeders use LAMBPLAN to objectively benchmark their animals' performance with other ram breeding flocks. More accurate sire selection enables ram breeders to achieve higher rates of genetic gain.

LAMBPLAN ASBVs provide clients with valuable information to select rams to meet their market targets. Commercial meat and wool producers should use LAMBPLAN information provided by ram breeders to assist their selection of commercial flock sires.

1st and 2nd cross lamb breeders, dual purpose breeders, and purchasers of store and breeding stock can all benefit from using LAMBPLAN information to get the genetics that are most suitable for their production system and market targets

An ASBV is an estimate of the genetic potential a sheep will pass on to its progeny. ASBVs are available for a range of economically important traits and are designed to be used in conjunction with visual selection.

The appearance and performance of an animal is a combination of its genes and the environment in which it is raised (e.g. the amount and quality of feed, single or twin birth type). ASBVs account for these environmental effects, allowing the comparison of sheep based on the genes they will pass on to their progeny. It is important to remember when selecting sheep you are choosing the genes, not the environment.

Liveweight ASBVs (WWT & PWWT) indicate an animal's genetic merit for growth. A more positive ASBV means the animal is genetically faster growing.

WWT: Rams with a more positive weaning weight (WWT) will on average produce lambs that grow more quickly to weaning (100 days).

PWWT: Rams with a more positive ASBV for post weaning weight (PWWT) produce lambs that grow more quickly and reach target weights in a shorter time. PWWT estimates the genetic difference between animals at 225 days of age.

Fat depth ASBVs (PFAT) describes the fat depth of an animal at a constant weight. A more negative ASBV means a genetically leaner animal.

PFAT: Rams with a more negative ASBV for post weaning fat (PFAT) will produce lambs that are leaner at the same weight. Post weaning fat estimates the genetic difference between animals at 225 days of age. We recommend breeding for more fat. Intramuscular fat is essential for:

- Eating quality.
- Survival. Sheep with positive fat will survive and produce better in dry conditions.
- Production. Ewes with a good amount of fat will maintain their body weight better in tough conditions. She will feed her lambs better and have a better chance of multiple births and of getting back in lamb again sooner if she has good fat.

Eye muscle depth ASBs (PEMD) describes an animal's genes for eye muscle depth at a constant weight. A more positive ASBV means a genetically heavier muscled animal that will have slightly more of its lean meat in higher-priced cuts. A positive PEMD increases the value of the carcass by increasing the amount of lean meat it contains as well as the dressing percentage.

PEMD: Rams with more positive ASBV's for eye muscle depth (PEMD) produce lambs that have a higher lean meat yield. Post weaning muscle depth estimates the genetic difference between animals at 225 days of age.

SRC Index is a combination of ASBV's into a single value. Each ASBV is weighted to reflect the particular traits emphasis to the breeding objective. The Self Replacing Carcass Index (SRC) is for use by breeds included in the terminal analysis, with the intention of producing a self replacing flock with a strong emphasis on carcass traits. A dollar index indicates the value of an animal based on its suitability for a particular market. The average SRC for Dorpers is 120.
